

ENSCONET Consortium

The European Native Seed Conservation Network

Our objective:

The aim of ENSCONET is to further improve quality, co-ordination and integration of European seed conservation in practice, policy and research.

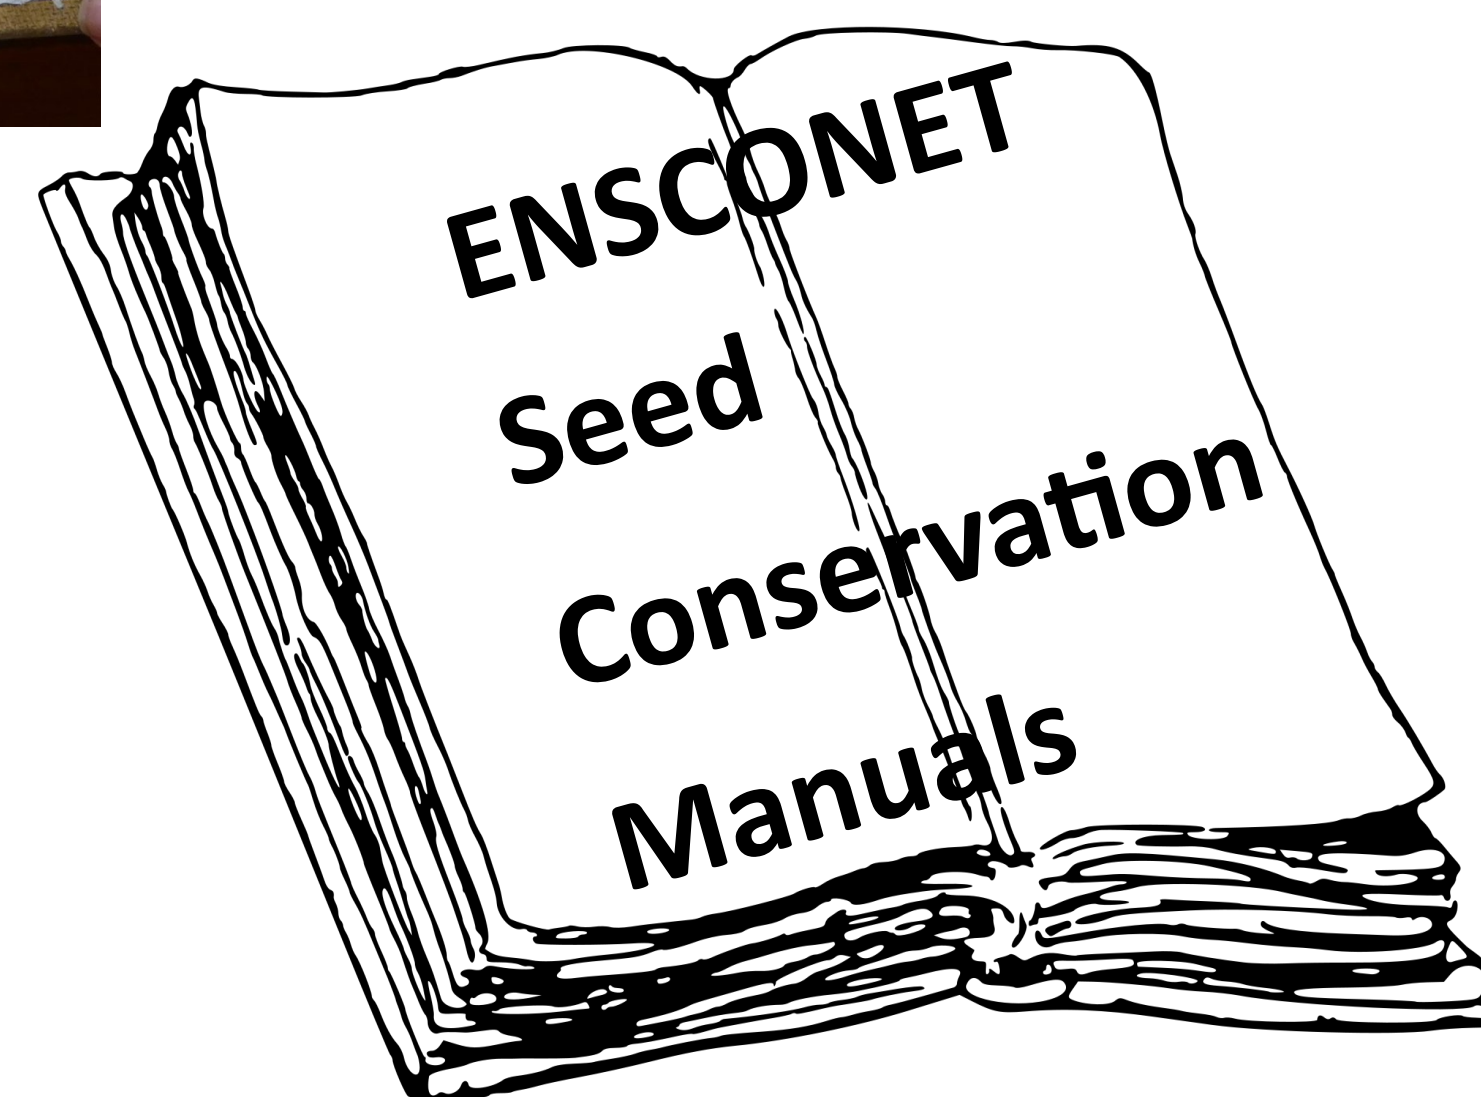

Activities & Outputs

Joint collecting trips

39% species available for restoration

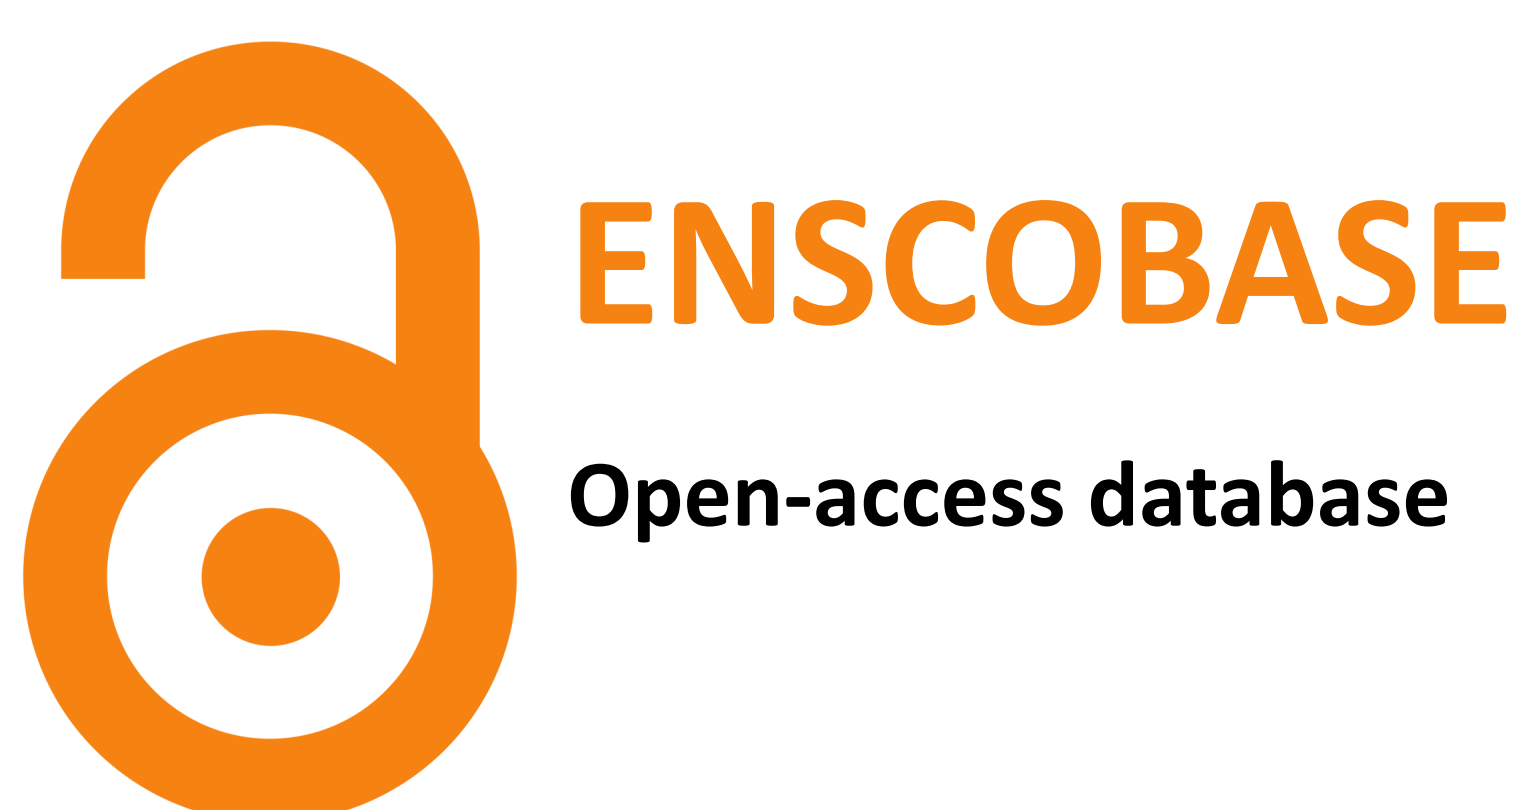

Interested to know more?

Or email Aisyah Faruk (A.faruk@kew.org)

>70%

genetic diversity of socio-economically valuable plant species conserved

Threatened

- VU >56% European threatened species conserved
- EN
- CR

